Cambourne Open Gardens goes Virtual

With the continued lock-down the organiser of Cambourne Open Gardens decided to cancel the official event for this year.

However, the good news is that people will still be able to show off their gardens, in the form of a virtual photographic tour in next month's Cambourne Crier.

"At this time we are all appreciating our gardens even more than normal," said organiser Pam Hume. "Indeed, we will probably all have the tidiest gardens ever!

So, we can't let all our efforts go to waste."

This event is open to all, and this year you can choose what others see. Large, or small, work in progress or the finished article (if there is such a thing with gardens), please send us your pictures. Your garden doesn't need to be a show garden; if you enjoy gardening and would like to share yours, or if you have an area of your garden which you are particularly pleased with, then do consider joining in.

A selection of the best photos will appear in June's Cambourne Crier.

If you'd like to take part, please send your photos to editorial@cambournecrier.org before 9pm, Sunday 17 May 2020. Please put "Cambourne open gardens" in the subject line of your email.

Summer Fire Safety Tips from Cambridge Fire Brigade

As the weather gets warmer and sunshine features more each day we welcome the longer, brighter days and shorter nights. With this we have the opportunity to enjoy summer in our gardens.

We would urge residents to think twice before lighting a garden fire and consider the impact it might have.

Lighting any kind of fire poses risks. Having a bonfire in your garden might seem a good idea to get rid of waste from a clear out, but these can easily get out of control. It could also aggravate health conditions for you or your neighbours, particularly if isolating due to COVID-19 symptoms.

When powering up your BBQs and putting out the garden furniture for the summer season, be sure to take note of our top tips below to ensure you have a fun and safe summer in your garden.

- Never leave a BBQ unattended
- Keep children, pets and garden games well away from the BBQ
- Make sure the BBQ is well away from your fences or hedgerows
- Don't use petrol as an accelerant to get it going!

Cambourne Footpaths

At this very strange and stressful time we are all appreciating the footpaths and bridleways around Cambourne. Its great that there are numerous walking routes, even venturing out towards Bourn, Caxton, and Knapwell.

If you've not discovered all the footpaths you can find a map if you copy and paste the following link into your browser :-
<http://www.cambourneparishcouncil.gov.uk/2017/03/02/cambourne-map/>

There are so many small detours to take, things to look at and enjoy. If you are feeling uninspired, or have children who are getting a bit tired of 'going for a walk' why not give them a focus. Have a theme to follow, for example search for different textures, patterns or even things in threes for example but above all, enjoy.

When we're out and about, on footpaths or in the street, its great that we can all greet each other albeit with a wide berth. A big THANK YOU also to couples, and families, who drop to single file to remove any uncertainty. Joggers, cyclists and fast walkers also help by giving others a wide berth, and when traveling in the same direction, ring their bell or call out to let others know that they want to pass. Many also slow down to give others time to move out of the way, rather than running/riding past quickly.

We are lucky to be able to enjoy the countryside so close to our homes. Enjoy and keep safe!

Cambridge Sewa Day

The Cambridge Sewa Day (@sewaday sewaday.org) team collected generous donations of Easter eggs from local families and Morrisons in Cambourne. They were delivered to hardworking staff at the Royal Papworth Hospital, The Darwin Centre for Young People in Fulbourn Hospital and Ferrars Hall Care Home in Huntingdon to spread some joy and show our appreciation for all the good work they are doing.

Our team have around 50 volunteers based around Cambridge, with most living in Cambourne. We are working on a number of nationally led campaigns, including 'help a neighbour' where we support those self isolating in need of shopping or medicine collection and 'caring for carers' where we support NHS staff and key workers. Sewa Day is a UK registered charity encouraging individuals to volunteer and get involved in community cohesion and acts of kindness through a personal approach. The word Sewa originates from the Sanskrit language and means 'selfless service'. For further information, please contact local coordinator Yogish Joshi @YogishJoshi.

Grant Funding for South Cambridgeshire Businesses

Businesses in South Cambridgeshire are Eligible for Grant Funding

Businesses in South Cambridgeshire who are eligible for grant funding under one of two Government Coronavirus assistance schemes, are being contacted by the District Council and invited to apply.

In response to the Coronavirus outbreak, the Government announced there would be support for small businesses and those companies in the retail, hospitality and leisure sectors.

This support will take the form of two grant funding schemes:

1. The Small Business Grant Fund. This fund provides a one-off grant of £10,000 to eligible businesses who already pay little or no business rates to help them meet ongoing business costs.
2. The Retail, Hospitality and Leisure Grant Fund. This fund provides businesses in these industries with a rateable value of under £15,000 with a grant of £10,000. Businesses with a rateable value of between £15,001 and £51,000 will receive a grant of £25,000

Businesses that may be Eligible

The Council estimates a total of around 1,700 businesses in South Cambridgeshire are eligible for a grant. These companies are being emailed with instructions on how to apply for the grants online. If the Council does not have an email address for them, they are being sent a letter containing details about applying.

The money for these grants was received recently from the Government. Immediate software development and testing, necessary to administer the grants, then took place and the Council is starting to pay the funds into the bank accounts of local companies.

Any business owner who does not receive an email or letter and believes they are eligible for one of the grants should in the first instance check the criteria in the 'Coronavirus information for businesses' section of the Council's website, then follow the links to contact the Council if necessary.

Cllr Peter McDonald, who is leading South Cambridgeshire District Council's efforts to assist local businesses which have been impacted by the Coronavirus outbreak, said:
 "Our team at the Council is working flat out to get these grants into the bank accounts of local businesses as quickly as they possibly can. Every day I am hearing stories of local companies doing all they can to stay in business and we will support them. Please do bear in mind though that when administering these grants, there are checks that we need to carry out to guard against fraud and we are doing this as quickly as we can. Also, I'd urge all local businesspeople to sign-up for our newsletter which is produced specifically for them – you can do this via the business section of our website. We are regularly sending out the latest advice and guidance and know that clear, concise information is needed. Alongside all of this, we are driving forward the recruitment of an expanded business support team and talking with as many local businesses as we can to find out what they need from us to help them through this crisis."

Local companies can sign up for the Council's business newsletter, and get the latest Coronavirus information for businesses, at www.scambs.gov.uk/business/coronavirus-information-for-businesses

In addition to the grants, South Cambridgeshires' retail, hospitality and leisure businesses have so far been awarded around £13.7 million through the Government's expanded retail business rates relief scheme. This means eligible businesses, that would have been due to pay Business Rates for 2020/21, have had their Business Rates waived so that they won't need to pay any for next year. Businesses added to this scheme by the Government since its launch, such as estate and letting agents, will also be receiving this credit on their rate bills.

"Save our Pubs" says New MP for Cambourne

I am calling on brewers and pub owning companies to cancel rent for tenants who have been forced to close their pubs due to the coronavirus crisis.

I'm therefore asking pub owning companies across South Cambridgeshire to follow the example set by Everards, Adnams, Charles Wells, Admiral Taverns and others in cancelling rent for the time that the pubs are closed due to the shutdown.

Other landlords have only deferred collection of rent and ancillary charges, culminating in thousands of pounds being owed by tenants when they reopen to the public.

This risks turning temporary crises into permanent closures. Publicans may not be able to make up the shortfall caused by months of missed income, particularly for those with gardens depending on good weather to bring in custom. Some have been forced to consider closing permanently.

We need to make sure the pubs are there for us when this crisis ends.

It has never been easy to run a pub, and many villages are already left clinging to their last viable pub.

I'm also asking all South Cambridgeshire residents to get behind our pubs. Get online and share stories and news about your local pubs, to not only encourage pub owning companies to step up to the plate, but to ensure our pubs remain part of our community.

Reaching Out to others during Lockdown

I hope you and your family are all well in these unusual times. I've been on my own all this time - as I use an inhaler and had a respiratory infection in February, I've been very careful about going out for my daily exercise. However, luckily I'm blessed with still being employed and working full time (at the moment, who knows what the future will bring) and I must admit I'm quite enjoying not having to commute every day to London! But it's a lonely time.

If you are like me and isolating, please don't feel alone. Reach out and talk to someone, possibly someone else like you.

The Town Council is coordinating our volunteer task force and the whole community is pulling together to deliver food packages, collect prescriptions, and importantly also make phone calls to those of us who can't get out.

Can you help by making a few phone calls for example?

Do you need help yourself in any way?

If the answer is yes, then do contact:-

Community@cambourneparishcouncil.gov.uk

It's tough and it's weird, but I am so proud of Cambourne. Thank you to all the volunteers. Our tight-knit community will fight this coronavirus battle together.

I am sending you all my very best wishes for your continued good health, both physical and mental.

Mental Health Awareness Week

Health has become the focus of the world in recent times but our health comes in many forms.

Keeping mentally healthy is understandably challenging at the present time with many additional causes for anxiety.

Mental health awareness week from 18-24th May this year focuses on the importance of kindness in supporting mental health.

Whether telling someone you appreciate them, sending messages of thanks, contacting someone who may be lonely, donating to the Foodbank or sharing your skills via video call; when we offer acts of kindness it does us as much good as those on the receiving end.

Kindness unlocks our shared humanity and is central to our mental health. It has the potential to bring us together which benefits everyone, particularly at times of great stress.

In recent weeks seeing a town come together in the face of a common threat, supporting the weakest and most vulnerable in many ways has been wonderful and inspiring. The actions of businesses, charities, the Cambourne Volunteer Task Force, volunteers and individuals with many, often unseen acts of kindness, care and neighbourliness all support mental health, but also show what a healthy community we have the privilege to live in.

Green Bins are coming back

Greater Cambridge phased return to green bin collections from 4th May

Residents in South Cambridgeshire are being asked to put their green bins out on their normal days from Monday 4 May as part of a phased reintroduction of garden waste collections.

Households would usually have two green bin collections between 4th and 30th May but, due to the impact of national social distancing measures, only one collection will be guaranteed. Crews will try to empty more bins on each occasion if they can.

For clarity, households can check their online bin collection calendar to find out their guaranteed green bin collection date. In addition, Greater Cambridge Shared Waste Service crews may be able to collect some green bins more frequently than this - when there are enough staff and vehicles. Putting your green bin out with your blue bin every fortnight will mean it is available for them to empty if they are able to.

The national social distancing measures outlined for waste collection services mean that each collection vehicle currently has a driver and only one loader (the crew member who loads the bins onto the lorry), rather than the usual driver plus two loaders. This is in order to ensure enough space is left between staff when travelling, which means what would normally be one week's work could be spread across two weeks.

The decision to suspend green bin collections in March was taken to ensure black bin (general rubbish) and blue bin (recycling) collections could be maintained despite crew members becoming ill or needing to isolate. At one point, around a third of operatives at the Shared Waste Service were absent for one of these reasons.

While the service runs with only one loader per truck, in line with Government guidance on avoiding spreading the virus, it takes longer and is much more physically demanding to complete each round.

Although crews will do their best to collect as many green bins as possible during the first fortnight, only half of residents will have a guaranteed collection in these first two weeks of May. As well as finding out when their scheduled collection is via the councils' websites, residents will be able to report any accidentally missed bins online, on their guaranteed collection date, as usual. It will not be possible to report a missed green bin collection on non-guaranteed days. Residents are being asked to continue home composting as much of their garden waste as possible until collections return to normal.

For information about bin collection services or to find your usual collection date visit www.scambs.gov.uk/recycling, where you can also find answers to Frequently Asked Questions related to green bin collections.

EDUCATION

Unlocking Learning in Cambourne

Educating Otherwise: While local home educators aren't able to get out to their usual clubs, activities and trips at the moment they, like many of Cambourne's other young people; are still enjoying walks with their families on the country park amongst spring flowers and breeding birds and also making the most of enhanced free online resources.

Cambridge Science Centre is posting STEM activities on its website in lieu of its regular sessions for home educators and Mel at Wildly Curious is inspiring her bushcraft students with videos on making charcoal and whittling wooden mushrooms. Home educators who love online gaming are also taking this opportunity to teach their parents how to play or are collaborating with their friends through Skype to build a hospital together on Minecraft (pictured). Lockdown or not, learning keeps happening!

For info on educating otherwise than at school please connect via the Facebook group 'Home Education – Cambourne'.

The College Adapts to Sudden Change

Cambourne Village College: The last two months must surely have been the strangest ever experienced in our schools. At Cambourne Village College we veered from the normal intensity of exam build-up and the excitement of a wonderful four-night production of Guys and Dolls, to a rapidly escalating situation of staff absences, single year groups working at home, remote schooling for all and the cancellation of community bookings. In addition to a key worker school on site was the devastating news for Yr 11 and their teachers that the 2020 public examination system had been cancelled.

As in so many sectors, the way that the school staff responded to this situation was phenomenal. Year 11 was not allowed to end the term at CamVC without a send-off or an impromptu and a much appreciated final assembly took place, with the promise of a proper leavers' celebrations just as soon as can be arranged. Staff are now engaged in the rigorous process demanded by OFQUAL to ensure that GCSE and other grades awarded this summer are a proper reflection of each pupil's work and abilities.

Remote schooling went almost to plan by the end of the first week of closure, as all but a few were established with a device and wifi at home, including Year 7 and Year 9 pupils who were equipped with iPads. All pupils were online and studying soon after. The various Heads of Department addressed remote working as soon as they were presented with the possibility and students adhered to home-working timetables from 23 March.

The learning curve for all of us has been very steep and we'd like to thank all the parents who have supported us. Like you all we're hoping for a return to normality as soon as possible – a good reminder of this can be found in our spring magazine on this link: <https://www.cambournevc.org/news-and-events/news-at-cam>

In the meantime, we send our very best wishes for the safety and good health of our Cambourne community.

Claire Coates, Principal.

Dear Members

GOSPEL CHOIR

Over the past six months Cambourne Community Gospel Choir has continued to perform in a range of settings, amongst them our very own Monkfield Arms.

We were also contacted by a couple who wanted a gospel choir to sing at their wedding. That was a truly wonderful occasion, and an amazing experience for us. Following that, we were invited to give a concert at Shelford Feast (our first 'professional' performance). Sadly the Feast has been cancelled, but we have been booked to perform next year.

We were also privileged to share a rehearsal with a visiting gospel choir from Ruanda, (which was great fun). A number of us were able to see them perform in a local church as well. More recently, we have been meeting, courtesy of Zoom. We are all enjoying being able to chat to each other, although it is very strange singing to yourself! Each rehearsal is unique but we are looking towards the future and working in some songs that are unique to us. Watch out for us after lockdown, who knows, we might be invited to sing at the Cambourne Fete again, or even be back in the pub.

CERC Attracts Many Enthusiasts

While the presentation and certification ceremony for 5th Beginner's batch of the Cambourne Electronics and Robotics Club (CERC) took place in the Old Blue School on 15th March 2020, which enabled students to advance to the Intermediate level. The students made PowerPoint presentations and demonstrated their projects to the public. This event also involved the induction of more than 40 students for the New Beginner's batch. On the same day more than 30 students took part in the exciting ESA AstroPi Mission to send their Python code to the astronauts in the International Space Station (ISS). There were also demonstrations by the FIRSTLego teams, PiWar team and Junior FIRSTLego team. At present the club has more than 70 students in Beginner, Intermediate and Advanced batches.

CERC offers a unique curriculum for 7-14 years students to excite them with STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Maths) activities. The club which has been operational since 2017 has served more than 500 students attracting kids from as far a field as Cambridge, Ely, Waterbeach, Milton, Papworth, Bar Hill and London.

The impact of these activities have seen students participating in the Senior FIRSTLego competition (Cambridgeshire champions 2019 & 2020), Junior FIRSTLego competition, PiWars 2019 & 2020 competitions (second position in 2019), Micro:bit Global competition, ESA AstroPi Missions (2019 & 2020), speaker at PiWars conference, stall at the Bett Show at London Excel, volunteer for local events, participate in the Cambourne Science Festival, summer coding challenges, train the scouts and be an active young STEM ambassador. The club also provides a platform for 14-18 years students to volunteer for the Duke of Edinburgh project. For more information please contact Cllr Dr Shrobona Bhattacharya at shrobona@gmail.com.

CERC launches initiatives for students

Cambourne Electronics and Robotics Club (CERC): has taken the initiative to engage students on electronics and robotics through live online sessions due to the current situation of schools' closure and social distancing. CERC has launched a live online session Python for Teens aimed at the 14-19 age group in Pre-GCSE, GCSE and A-level to teach mathematical concepts in Maths and Science through a programming-based approach.

Python is one of the most widely taught and used programming languages in senior schools, universities, and industries. The course teaches the skills to understand, create and debug like an expert. The fundamentals of coding including data types, variables, functions, loops, object-oriented programming concept and visualisation will be delivered in a structured manner. The live sessions will be followed by assignments giving more insight into the topics. Upon completion students will be able to register for the advanced online course Python for Machine Learning.

The sessions will be mentored by an experienced aerospace engineer and educationalist Dr Sujit Bhattacharya, who has more than 30 years of experience working in the aerospace industry and research labs.

For more information and registration please contact Cllr Dr Shrobona Bhattacharya at shrobona@gmail.com.

Go WILD with the Wildlife Trust for Bedfordshire, Cambridgeshire and Northamptonshire

Can you do one wild thing a day

throughout the whole of June?

We believe you can!

Join thousands of people taking part in our annual nature challenge, 30 Days Wild. Do it for your health, wellbeing, wildlife and the planet.

What is 30 Days Wild?

30 Days Wild is a fun, feel-good challenge run by The Wildlife Trusts every June. Back for its sixth year, it brings people closer to nature where they live, taking small actions that can collectively have a big impact.

From little things such as watching a bee from your window or feeding the birds, to giving up single-use plastics for a month or digging a pond in your garden: every Random Act of Wildness counts.

If you want to see what others are getting up to, just check out #30DaysWild on social media.

What's in a 30 Days Wild pack?

When you sign up, you'll be able to download a host of goodies to help you plan your month. You'll have a wallchart, wildlife bingo, an activity passport and a nature table template. We'll send you lots more resources leading up to June too, from instructions for baking hedgehog cupcakes to a beginner's guide to wildlife photography.

For more information look online

COMMUNITY

Covid-19 Volunteer Task Force

Last month's Cambourne Crier featured the launch of the local Covid-19 volunteer group. The response of the town to the call for volunteers was enormous and more than 60 volunteers are now signed up from all sections of the community, different faith groups, town councillors, the local pub and local residents. It has been a very busy couple of weeks for the steering group who started the initiative, processing all the applications and organising tasks alongside the core activities of getting groceries and prescriptions out to the people who needed them. With the help of local political party systems, leaflets have been distributed to nearly every house in Cambourne, and volunteers have been checked and issued with ID badges. One member of the steering group was not surprised at the number of volunteers.

Easter Eggs, donated by Morrison's, around the town, schools with key worker's children, retirement homes, individuals and families, and the pharmacy staff

Cambourne is quite a unique place where everybody is adopted in. Many do not have a family network here", says Karla Parker, in charge of Food Parcels, "and there's a huge heart for Cambourne from the people that live here, a very can-do attitude." One such volunteer is Becky Johnson, from Lower Cambourne. She explains why she joined the group. "I didn't want anyone to feel totally isolated and vulnerable". Becky does shopping and runs errands for some older ladies and also helps with delivering the prescriptions.

The prescription system is organised around Nichola Neville-Stearn, General Manager of the Monkfield Arms, who collects them from the pharmacy and hands them to volunteers to deliver around the village. Volunteer Rachael Davitt has been helping with this task: "It's been really nice. I've had little chats with people, and that has sometimes been the only chat they have had in the day". Food provision is available both for those who simply need help getting their groceries for those who cannot afford food at the moment. The Coop in Upper Cambourne has kindly agreed to make orders ready twice a week and volunteers take the shopping to the people who need it. The Food Parcel service is for people who cannot afford food at the moment. They can come to the Blue School and collect a parcel twice a week (Wed 5-6 pm and Sat 10-11 am). For people who are unable to come in person, volunteers can drop parcels off. Both local shoppers and Morrisons itself have been extremely generous in making donations for this service, which is needed even more than usual at this time.

Another very important service offered by the Task Force is that of making phone calls. Pam Hume is spearheading this activity. She explains that she now has a handful of people who she rings from time to time. "Some people suffer from anxiety or depression anyway, and this [situation] has made it more stressful. People are missing contacts, missing family and have extra burdens to the norm." Volunteers agree that they themselves get a lot of satisfaction from their work. They feel that it is great to be able to make a difference on their own doorstep. As Cambourne Crescent's Arshad Siddiqui, who leads the initiative, puts it: "Now when you walk through the village, people are more smiling, kinder. People realise, we are all one, we are all together in this".

The work of the group is being recognised within the town and further afield. Following an application to the Cambridgeshire Coronavirus Community fund, a decision in principle has been made for the group to be awarded a grant to support its work in helping vulnerable, older and isolated people in the town.

Volunteers with food parcels outside the Blue School.

Food Parcel opening times at the Blue School, Eastgate:

Wednesdays: 5:00-6:00 pm

Saturdays: 10:00-11:00 am

Groceries

Those who are self-isolating and need help with shopping can choose from a simplified list of essential items. We will collect all requests and seek advance payment (currently donation to our Just Giving link) by Thursday night for delivery on Saturday night.

Prescriptions

Prescription requests are sent to the pharmacy, usually collected the same day or the next morning, and delivered around the town.

Phone Calls

We have trustworthy volunteers who are happy to talk to those who are in isolation.

CHURCHES

CAMBOURNE CHURCH

As I write this, we're heading into week four of lockdown. The children have been home from school for over two weeks and we've not had a proper face to face conversation with anyone outside the household for what seems like ages.

There's so much uncertainty around us. When will schools reopen? Is this the start of a sniffle or hayfever, or is it something more sinister? We find ourselves clinging to things we know are consistent; routines, TV boxsets etc.

As Christians, we know we have consistency and security in Jesus. As this time of uncertainty was beginning to make itself known in the UK I asked on our Facebook page if people would share verses from the Bible that they return to in difficult times. Here are some of them.

" Where can I go from your Spirit? Where can I flee from your presence? Psalm 139: 7

" In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth. Genesis 1: 1

" The LORD is my light and my salvation- whom shall I fear? The LORD is the stronghold of my life- of whom shall I be afraid? Psalm 27:1

" For the Spirit God gave us does not make us timid, but gives us power, love and self-discipline. 2 Timothy 1:7

We have a Lord who we believe gives us strength and courage. He created the beautiful world we live in (aren't we blessed to have the country park in Cambourne!), and He will always be with us, through the ups and downs, the times of security and the times of uncertainty.

Revd Bill Miller

Services for May are suspended at this time.

"We are still trying to stay connected and to serve our community in various ways. Although the building is closed and we are not gathering for worship, Cambourne Church is alive and well. You can still get in touch with us in these difficult times." Bill Miller

Peacehaven Baptist Church: Pastoral Thoughts

Well we are still here.

It is difficult for a shepherd to be away from the sheep. But oddly my workload has actually increased. As now in addition to my duties with the church I also am having to study lighting, video production, audio filters and additional software. I am now putting messages online via youtube and oddly getting more views than we have people on some of them. The quality is by no means superb (720p) but the content is solid when in reference to the scriptures. Some of the illustrations could use a little work and a better background would be good but I am not a professional at this kind of thing. However, if you ever wondered what are they teaching over there? But did not have the opportunity to come along, this is a great chance. I have created a playlist of recent messages and I actually have subscribers. The playlist is at

Pastor Donovan Bangs,
Peacehaven Baptist Church

Hopefully that will be clickable if not just cut and paste as we are just digital at the moment. I am also helping out locally and with my extended family and with the crier. Oh the joys of online meetings. I understand this is difficult for us all but at least we all can take strength that despite the circumstances this too shall pass and eventually things will get back to normal. Now it may be a different normal for us but hopefully a better one. One if I might suggest that we not only consider our physical status, but one where we look to our spiritual state as well. We may have to be socially distant but we do not need to be spiritually distant as the Lord is always ready to listen when his children call out to Him.

HEALTH

Some Do's and Don't while Recovering from an Illness

Any illness takes a toll on our body and having a speedy recovery is what everyone wants.

When recovering from an illness, it is normal to feel exhausted and lethargic. We should give some time to our body and do not exert it especially during and after an illness including an infection or flu.

It is also important to boost your mood and keep yourself motivated in order to get back to good health.

Five things to do while recovering from an illness

1 A Balanced Diet

A Balanced diet is essential to regain and retain good health. Make sure to include all the food groups in your diet. A large proportion of your diet should include fresh fruits and vegetables.

Eating a colourful variety of fruit and vegetables can provide you with varied range of essential vitamins, minerals and antioxidants. The vibrant colours of fruits and vegetables provide them with unique disease fighting phytochemicals, that protect you from various illnesses.

Try to include good carbs such as whole-wheat varieties, as well as protein and 'good fat' such as what you get in oily fish, legumes and nuts. You can also add some form of probiotics in your meals such as yoghurt, pickled vegetables, as it can help to support your digestion and immune system.

2. Good Hydration

Good hydration is important, as our body consists of 60% water, so we need enough fluids to keep our body healthy. Water has many vital functions in our body. It regulates temperature, transports nutrients and compounds in blood, removes waste products via urine and acts as a lubricant in joints.

The amount of fluid required by our body depends on many factors including the physical activity level, weather and age. It is recommended that you drink 6-8 glasses of fluids every day.

3. Exercise

Light exercise such as yoga or strength training and meditation can support your physical and mental health.

4. Relaxation and Mood

Self-care and relaxation like taking a hot bath with magnesium salts or talking to friends and loved ones can boost your mood.

5. Sleep

Good sleep is vital as our body recover while sleeping. Try to make a sleeping regime and sleep for 7-8 hours every night.

Three things to avoid

i) Processed and fried foods have trans fats which are bad for your health.

ii) Added Sugar and salt are harmful for your blood sugar and blood pressure.

iii) Alcohol in excess is not good for your liver.

Inspired by self isolation - community fiction

A CAMBOURNE RESIDENT LOATHES SELF ISOLATION: 'What?' I snapped.

'We are all out of flour,' the fresh faced assistant replied behind a stack of Easter Eggs. Unbelievable. 9:09 Monday morning in Morrisons and no staples. This isn't Caxton, Croxton or St Neots but Cambourne. How exactly am I supposed to self-isolate if I can't have cod with my caviar, or Chanterelles in my Fricassee? I'm an advisor a pillar, civil servant and upstanding member of the community for the last eleven months. A staple of this rural hamlet. How else will the constituents be notified of increases to their council tax and parking charges. When bin collections will resume or to look out for potholes on the A428.

There is only one thing for this. Online shopping. Yes if I could become an advocate and ensure that our key workers, educational and government establishments are equipped, then a night club for the youth, university for graduates and a petrol station to encourage some healthy petrol wars. This would surely establish CB23 as a town and probably propel me onto my dream of advising future residents of 10 Downing Street or Whitehall, but first champagne vinegar for my Waldorf salad. No point queuing up one metre apart for just vinegar and mushrooms, when I can have my chops and parfait delivered, while I indulge in a spot of online courting with the boyfriend or should that be potential boyfriend. Nigel is eccentric. How many people can boast of a hot tub and a Jaguar coupe? Well I should make haste and hurry off to kill two birds with the same stone as they say.

Despite saving the environment and everything that Greta T stands for, I can't resist any excuse to get behind the wheel and drive. Mind you after five days of home working and the only words I physically managed to utter was 'Yes please,' to the courier as next door wasn't in 29 minutes in the SUV to Cambridge feels like an outing. A treat. Truth be known shopping is now the new trend. Yes it was everything I thought it would be. I truly recommend it. First there was the guy in the petrol shop.

'That's £20.00. Do you have a club card?'

Then there was the guy at the fish counter.

'These are line caught turbot. £2.50. How much would you like?'

Then there was the girl at the check-out counter.

'That's £27.50. Do you have a club card?'

Three conversations in under an hour. Second time this month. But what do I do once my pantry is stocked? Blimey there is always the flat tyre or stalled engine. Here is hoping the traffic will be minimal when the AA respond.

Logged on to the work site and I wait for a query. Someone with a complaint or an idea to help other residents and extend our sense of community. A good cup of tea and toast. Nothing hits the spot like cream cheese on toast and I wait. And wait. Check out the local animal centre. Maybe there are a few new arrivals who need re-housing. Wow Mocha coffee with skimmed milk is really nice. Glad I had the time to discover it. Oh just discovered I have voice messages.

'Im Sarah, 49 chef from Caxton and working in a local care home. I just want to say that in all my twenty-two years of working in Caxton, my residents have always had sausage rolls for brunch and Yorkshire puddings with their tea. And I think it is unacceptable that I can't get sourdough flour within a ten mile radius. I will be bringing this up at the next council meeting.'

'Im Luke, 66 retired baker from Croxton and just opened up my own deli catering to the local community. How do you account for the lack of Fenugreek and Garam Masala in Cambridgeshire? Essential ingredients for Dopiazza a very popular dish. Even online the earliest delivery won't be til August and this is April. How am I to survive as a trader?'

'Im Sheila, 41 manager of the Ultimate Experience care home here in Cambourne, and I find it shocking and astonishing that I can't source locally Ultimate Wellbeing Bath and Aromatherapy Associates from the Absolutely Fabulous brand within Cambridgeshire. My nearest supplier is in Holborn London. A cost which I will have to pass on to my residents which means a rise in cost of at least 8% at the start of the financial year.'

Blimey do these constituents realise that a global pandemic is unfolding as I type? All they seem to be absorbed in is the ingredients of a recipe or bath oils. I can see now why most of the councillors have taken a leave of absence and I a mere receptionist on overtime has been asked to cover the switchboard. Well I too will be bringing a few queries up at the next council session.

Eek! My mobile. Someone to talk to. My third conversation of the month.

'Hello.'

'Helen it's me Jack. Hope you are well and safe. I've just been summoned to Huntingdon. Its not all good I'm afraid. What's your availability tomorrow?'

'Tomorrow? Let me check my diary....'

Seeking Grounds For Change

The Cambourne Bear Hunt:

Times like these bring out the best in people and Cambourne residents are no exception, and we have the bears to prove it!

On 28th March, during the first week of the coronavirus lockdown Toni Hall had a 'bearrrrilliant' idea and set up a Facebook group called 'Cambourne goes on a Bear Hunt' which now has around 450 members. 'Its for all our young residents to have a bit of fun and sunshine at this unpredictable time,' said Toni.

Inspired by the bear hunt in St Neots, participants are given a number to display in their window with a bear for people to spot on daily walks. The bears are soft toys, homemade pictures or photographs which has sparked the creativity of Cambournians young and old. There are traditional teddies, rainbow bears, pandas, a burglar and nurse bear and even cheeky monkeys, chicks, bunnies, Winnie-the-Pooh, Tigger, Pikachu, Elmer the Elephant and Buzz Lightyear! Bears are appearing alongside the rainbows that many people have been putting in their windows to express support and appreciation of the amazing keyworkers keeping us all cared for and fed.

Big Bear outside Toni's house has been spotted sunbathing in a hammock, doing yoga, planting flowers, going on a bike ride, playing Jenga and building a den with friends, shopping, having a beauty treatment and dressing up as the Easter Bunny. Toni also introduced an idea she'd seen posted by a group in Papworth Everard and added furry friendly birthday wishes and gifts to help children celebrate their special day during the lockdown. Charlie Renshaw, Davinia & Dave Coulson and others have joined in making birthday posters and leaving out presents. Others have left out happy rocks, books and Easter eggs for passersby to find. Thank you to all our beary good friends for spreading such joy and keeping Cambourne's spirits up! If you would like to get involved please join 'Cambourne goes on a Bear Hunt' Facebook group or email tonih.girlguiding.info@gmail.com
